URGENT

Dear Mr Sunak,

I am a constituent and am writing for two reasons, the first to request a meeting, the second with an important invitation to you or your representative.

I would like a meeting with you about the plight I am in, with my need and desire to avoid radio-frequency radiation from Wifi, smartphones and phone masts. My health was damaged by living about 20 meters from a phone mast 20 years ago, while my 2 neighbours died of motor neurone disease. Yes, I know causation is hard to prove, but on that subject I urge you or your representative to attend the short conference at the Royal Society of Medicine.

In this regard I am delighted to be writing to you on behalf of the International Commission on the Biological Effects of Electromagnetic fields (ICBE-EMF) to invite you personally to its event in London on the 14th June on the topic: “Radiofrequency Radiation from Wireless Communications Sources: Are Safety Limits Valid?”

The full details are in the attached invitation, in which there is a link to the program. If you would like to attend in person, would you please RSVP to the email address given in the invitation, as places are limited.

Best Wishes,

Gillian Jamieson
